

HEALTH EDUCATION AROUND THE WORLD

1. Health education in Palestine refugee camp near Jericho. WHO provides consultants and advises UNRA on health education programs. 2. 9-year old Maria Luise learns how to enrich family's diet with fruits and vegetables that are plentiful near her village. In Paraguay, school children are taught about cooking and hygiene and pass information on to their parents. 3. Family health club of Varjao, Brazil, meets to discuss cesspool problems. Brazil, with a known 4 million affected by bilharziasis, is directing an intensive health education campaign at both school children and adults. 4. On home visit, Nigerian nurse advises on child-feeding. At University of Ibadan, qualified nurses may now earn diploma in nursing care and public health. 5. Young diabetics in Bulgaria learn how to do daily tests. 6. Before carrying out smallpox vaccinations, public health nurse gives a lecture on smallpox to school children in Vietnam. 7. Teacher in rural school at Ytauga instructs about goiter. In some Paraguayan villages, many people have this disease. 8. In Nigeria a fouré advises about feeding and shows how to prepare meals. 9. In a Thai school, pupils examine centrifugized specimen of drinking water to see organisms in it before purification. 10. School teacher in India lectures on malaria-carrying mosquito. 11. Dutch children learn about oral hygiene. 12. IUD is explained to woman in India. On request, WHO aids member states in developing family planning. 13. The famous marionettes of Prague go to schools to serve the cause of health.

WHO photos. 1, 2, 5, and 7 by Paul Almasy, 4 by D. Henrioud, 6 by J. Abcede, 8 and 12 by M. Jacot, 11 by T. Farkas, 13 by J. Mohr.